SHORT TAKES

Cop injured trying to snare rowdy

Thoothukudi: A police sub-inspector was injured in an operation to nab a history-sheeter who was accused of an attempt on the life of the former Srivaikundam union chairman, on Saturday. A notorious criminal, 'Vedigundu' Ganesan of Umarikadu, near Tiruchendur, in Thoothukudi district, attacked former Srivaikundam union chairman Shankar (46) at a salon in Aathore, when Shankar came for a haircut along with his son on Sunday morning. Aathore sub-inspector Madasamy, along with four of his subordinate police personnel, chased Ganesan who was surrounded at Ariyapuram village on way to Tiruchendur. Attempting to flee, Ganesan took out his sickle and swung it at the policemen.

YOUTH BRIGADE COP FOUND DEAD

Salem: A Tamil Nadu special police youth brigade personnel was found dead on the railway tracks at Karuppur, near Salem, under mysterious circumstances on Saturday. The police said Sigamani Chinnaraj (28), who belonged to the Maruvipatti village in Morappur, Dharmapuri district, was deputised for security duty on the Mysore-Mayiladuthurai express and scheduled to board the train at Salem on Saturday morning. However, Sigamani, dressed in a police uniform, was found dead with head injuries on the railway tracks on Saturday morning. He had boarded the Chennai-Mangalore express at 9 pm on Friday at Morappur along with his relative, Saravanan, to reach Salem. As there was no seat available in the unreserved compartment, Sigamani travelled squatting at the entrance of the coach. When the train reached Salem, Saravanan who was sleeping inside the compartment, woke up to get down from the train. However, he found that Sigamani was missing. He immediately alerted the railway police. Sigamani's body was found lying on the tracks at Karuppur on Saturday morning, Salem railway police inspector B. Manikandan said. The police suspect that he may have slipped off the train and fallen on the tracks.

■ 108-year-old fisherman continues to be active in Pamban

The old man and the sea

S. P. LOGANATHAN | DC RAMESWARAM, NOV. 22.

Andi Chinnathambi in nearby Pamban is among the most active fishermen even though he is 108 years old. Several of his sea mates have died over the years and three of his sons are no more even as his family of over 35 includes several great grand children.

The old man now owns 12 fishing boats that are almost always engaged at sea. "Chinnathambi can accurately read the wind and tide, based on which he would decide what kind of nets his boats should use and in which direction they must set off for good catches. He makes good money but then, he

GROOM, PARENTS ARRESTED FOR MINOR MARRIAGE

DC CORRESPONDENT SALEM, NOV. 22

The Salem police arrested on Friday night a bridegroom who married a 17-year-old girl, studying class 11, and his parents.

The daughter of a worker in a silversmithery at Sevvapet, the teenaged girl, Ramya, was said to be in love with a photographer, 23-year-old R. Kathiravan. As her parents opposed their marriage, the two eloped and got married at Madheswaram hills temple in Karnataka.

Meanwhile, Ramya's father Babu lodged a complaint with village administrative officer J. Karthik, who in turn, alerted the police. When Kathiravan and Ramya returned to Salem on Friday, the police nabbed the groom. They also arrested Kathiravan's father Raja, 54, and mother, Mallika, 45, as they had helped their son marry a minor girl in violation of laws. The girl has been rescued and sent to a government reception centre for counselling.

Three Bangladeshis held in Tirupur

DC CORRESPONDENT COIMBATORE, NOV. 22

Three Bangladeshis, working as tailors in the export hub of Tirupur without valid visas and work permits, were arrested on Friday night.

With the export town facing acute labour shortage, knitwear units are hiring foreign nationals from neighbouring countries at low wages. This year alone, six Bangladeshis who were working as tailors for about ₹10,000 a month, have been nabbed for not possessing valid documents, the police said.

According to Tirupur district rural police, Abikul (17), Zakeer (20) and Babu Chandar Raj (22) from Bangladesh were employed in Nivitha knitwear unit in Rakkipalayam, in Tirupur.
